TALES FROM THE YAWNING PORTAL

This document corrects and clarifies some text in Tales from the Yawning Portal. The changes appear in recent printings of the book.

CHAPTER 3

The Hidden Shrine of Tamoachan (p. 62–63). The map art has been updated to be more readable. The new version can be found on the next page of this file. It can also be found here:

The Sepulcher of Tloques-Popolocas (p. 69). In the Treasure section, in the eighth bullet point, the “ring of resistance [fire]” is now a “ring of protection.”

CHAPTER 7

24. Adamantine Door (p. 223). The last sentence has been changed to “There is no way of opening it from the east side.”

APPENDIX B

Champion (p. 231). In the “Actions” section, “Light Crossbow” is now “Shortbow.” In that attack’s description, “6 (1d8 + 2)” is now “5 (1d6 + 2).”

Conjurer (p. 232). In the Spellcasting trait, the cantrips now have no asterisks.

Evoker (p. 235). In the Sculpt Spells trait, “forces other creatures it can see” is now “forces other creatures it can see to make a saving throw.”

A side-view cross-section diagram of the temple. It shows a long, low structure with a flat roof. The structure is divided into three main sections: a small, square, stepped structure on the left labeled 'Temple'; a larger, rectangular section in the middle labeled 'Third Tier'; and a long, narrow section on the right labeled 'Second Tier'. Below the 'Second Tier' section, there is a long, narrow, rectangular area labeled 'Lower Chambers'. The entire structure is set against a background of stylized green trees and a blue sky.
